GOD'S MIRACLES

WHAT DR. JOHN P. D. JOHN SAID
IN HIS FIRST LECTURE.

THE SUPREME PURPOSE

The Only Manner in Which He Could Reveal His Character to His Wandering Creatures of This World.

"The Christ of the Miracle" was the subject of the first of the series of lectures on "The Religion of the Future," by Dr. John P. D. John, a noted divine and a former president of De Pauw university, given Tuesday evening at the First M. E. church before a large crowd. Dr. John is a good orator, and held the closest attention of his audience.

The lectures will be continued throughout the week at the First M. E. church. On Wednesday evening Dr. John will talk on "The Christ of the Incarnation."

His lecture Tuesday evening was in part as follows:

"In the series of addresses that are to follow I shall aim to present from a modern point of view some of the outstanding features in the mission of Jesus Christ to the world. It is impossible to take even a superficial view of this mission without encountering the miraculous. From his birth in a manger to his ascension from Mt. Olivet, we behold the transcendent miracle of the incarnation. In view of the fact that the matter of miracle will appear as an element in all of the subjects discussed in this series, I shall say once for all what I think necessary to be said concerning my views of miracles.

"A miracle is not a violation of law. The laws of the universe are the laws of God, and it is inconceivable that God should violate any of His laws. A single violation would bring confusion into the harmony of the universe and would transform our confidence in the uniformity of nature into distracting uncertainty. If what is called miraculous should seem to violate law, it can only be a seeming violation.

Not only is a miracle not a violation of law; it is not even a suspension of law. God's law acts, under proper conditions, everywhere and always, and under the same conditions uniformly produces the same results. If, now and then, results follow that are alleged to be different from those in the ordinary trend of experience, we may safely assume, not that a law has been suspended, but that some hitherto unknown condition has come into the case.

When some hitherto unknown forces come in to co-operate with forces familiar to us, the result may be contrary to the known facts of experience, and we call the phenomenon a miracle; but it is, in fact, no more miraculous than the ordinary results of the well known laws of nature. A miracle is mysterious, but not all mysteries are miracles, for many mysteries are common to human experience. How a grain of corn grows is a mystery, but not a miracle in the technical sense. How a dead man comes to life is a mystery and also a miracle, for it is contrary to the general trend of human experience. If the resurrection of dead men should become a common fact, while it might still remain mysterious, it would no longer be miraculous.

Man is endowed with at least six senses, touch, taste, temperature, smell, sight and hearing. If we had only five senses we should be shut out from much of our present knowledge, and phenomena which we call miraculous with our present six senses might be natural with a seventh sense. It is my firm belief that all the well attested miracles of the Bible, culminating in the resurrection of Christ and His marvelous impress of human history, are perfectly natural phenomena to higher and more spiritual intelligences than men, and will possibly be natural to men when they reach a more advanced stage of intellectual and spiritual discernment.

A miracle, then, is an offset against certain well known laws of nature by other laws that are now unknown. When all the laws involved in the miracle become known, the result will be in harmony with common experience and will no longer be miraculous.

Under what conditions would God cut across the uniformity of nature for the purpose of performing a miracle? Surely not for a spectacle, or for applause. The visible universe itself is sufficiently spectacular, and its revelation of His glory is sufficient applause. The supreme purpose of the miracle is this: God tried by the miracle to give His people views of His character which He could not do in any other way. He tried by the miracle to show Himself to His lost children in such a way as to bring them back to Him. No miracle was ever performed that was not worthy of a God of infinite power, wisdom and love. And if God could bring His wandering creatures back to Himself by cutting through the ordinary course of nature and revealing Himself as a Father with arms outstretched to receive them, such a miracle would be worthy of Him, and He would be under obligation to the creatures of His hand, to exhaust all the resources of omnipotence and love to draw them back to Himself.

In the next address of this series, I shall attempt to show that the miracle of the incarnation is God's way of telling men that He loves them, and that this transcendent miracle, however spectacular it may appear, is worthy of Him, provided He can in this tragic way show Himself to His children, and that this outstanding miracle will bring the world back to God, if anything He could do would accomplish this result.

FOR THE DELEGATES.

Entertainment is Now Being Arranged
For—The Committee in Charge.

In a few days the delegates to the united missionary campaign conference will be coming into our city from every point of the compass. To provide entertainment for them is one of the tasks which the executive committee is facing. It is the plan of the committee to ask the people of the churches to give the delegates lodging and breakfast. They will procure their other meals uptown. As invitations have been sent to over one hundred churches in the outlying territory, and as it is likely that a number of churches will be represented by more than one delegate, it is necessary that there be a whole-hearted co-operation with the committee to prove to the people of northwest Missouri that when it comes to hospitality, as well as many other good things that in the terminology of our Commercial club, "Maryville Has It." Mrs. O. C. Hanna is the chairman and Mrs. G. B. Roseberry, Mrs. S. E. Farmer, Mrs. E. B. Sheldon and Mrs. Eugene Ogden are the members of the sub-committee having the work of obtaining entertainment for the delegates. These ladies are the presidents of the woman's missionary societies of the co-operating churches, and we bespeak for them the hearty accord of Maryville hospitality.

TALK OF BASE BALL LEAGUE.

Shenandoah Paper Includes Maryville in the League—No Definite Action.

The following is from the Shenandoah World of Tuesday's issue:

There is a movement on foot in this town and other towns near here to form a base ball league. A few years ago Shenandoah had a team in the Mink league, but this league failed on account of the long distances which the teams had to travel, but outside of this the league was very satisfactory. The teams which are in line for franchises are Shenandoah, Red Oak, Clarinda, Atlantic, Creston and Maryville, and the longest jump which need be made is about fifty miles, which shows that there is no reason why such a league should not prosper in these six towns. An article was published by Sandy Griswold on the chances for this league and his opinion was favorable and the fans in this town are getting a little stirred up about it, hoping that the movement will thrive.

TO FINISH WORK THURSDAY.

Grand Jury Will End Season Then—
Witnesses From Maryville
Up Today.

The grand jury will probably finish its work on Thursday, so it was reported this morning. Many witnesses have appeared before the jury, and it is expected that a number of true bills will be returned.

Today witnesses from Graham, Conception Junction and Maryville appeared before the grand jury. It is rumored that the jury is to investigate into the fight that took place at the Owls club room several weeks ago, as it was stated at that time that the fight resulted from gaming.

Two Coal Trains Wrecked.

The morning Burlington train was one hour and fifteen minutes late Wednesday. The train was reported on time early to Agent Goforth, and it was some time before a reason was known for its delay. Two coal trains were wrecked at Creston about the time for the departure of the passenger train, and all the main line trains were held up until the wreckage could be cleared away.

SCHOOL ELECTION

CONSOLIDATED HIGH SCHOOL IS PROPOSED.

FIVE DISTRICTS IN IT

They Are Graham, Haylett, Stark,
Hickory Grove and Elkhorn Districts—No Action Taken.

A consolidated district for high school purposes is being discussed at present by the patrons of the Graham, Haylett, Stark, Hickory Grove and Elkhorn districts in Hughes township, and it is thought that an election will be held within the next few weeks to vote on such a proposition. The matter is being talked of favorably.

The plan is for each district still to maintain their elementary grades, but that the high school studies would be taken up at some place in that community, probably at Graham, the voters of these districts to decide.

This would be the first election to be held in the county under this new school law. According to the law $25 is allowed for each square mile in the district taken in, and the area of the district as proposed is thirty square miles, making $750 that would be received each year from the state for such a school. The valuation of that district would be $500,000.

State Superintendent Evans will discuss the matter with the voters of these school districts at a meeting to be held next week at Graham.

ABOUT DR. J. W. DEAN.

What a St. Joseph Paper Says About
His Going Back to the Soil Movement.

The following about Dr. J. W. Dean is from today's St. Joseph Gazette:

Ah, that is a glorious thing which is soon to open before our upright and also honored medical friend and brother distributor of health helpers, Dr. J. W. Dean at merry Maryville, who has decided to chuck his practice after years of curing the Nodawayites of everything which ailed them and many things that didn't and go to live on a farm. Think of his not having to get out in the middle of the night next March because some old lady nine miles from town has been took with something or other and knows she's dying, notwithstanding the doctor knows she isn't. Imagine his joy at feeling when he sits down to a game of dominoes after supper—it's always supper in the evening on the farm—that he won't have to quit just as he gets ahead and goes down the street seventeen blocks to dig three beans and a marble out of the Jones baby's nose. Fancy, if you can, Dr. Dean's delight in realizing that when the telephone bell rings it may be a stock buyer offering him 10 cents more on that bunch of hogs than the market justifies, or a cattle man telling that he has just run across the very dairy cow the doctor wants, or an Illinois visitor asking if he will sell his farm for $2,000 more than he gave for it, or any one of a lot of similar pleasing messages, but nary a call to sit up all night with a man who fell off the Mulberry street viaduct while helping put Maryville dry and who may pass in his checks any minute—only Dr. Dean knows he will improve toward morning, after spoiling the rest of the attending physician. Yes, life is going to be one grand, sweet song for the Maryville medical man who has joined the back to the soil movement, and the likeliest thing he'll probably say, when he gets out in the barnyard the first morning and hears the hired man yell, "Sick'em, Tiger!" will be, "Aw cut it out—there isn't no going to be any sickness around these parts from now on."

Nodaway county was represented here today by the following consignments: W. H. Rainey, Sholey Laurey & F., and Joseph Holker each sent in a car load of hogs, while J. B. Nunnelly and J. A. Fagan each forwarded a car of mixed stock from that section.—St. Joseph Daily Stock Journal.

The fire department was called Tuesday night to the home of F. G. Shoemaker on East Fourth street, a flue being on fire. Not much damage was done.

Dr. H. E. Moss of Kansas City was in Maryville Wednesday.

Car load of fine or "P" size old process oil meal will arrive soon $31.00 per ton or half ton. Wm. Everhart.

SKIDMORE WOMAN HELD.

Was Accused of Taking Part in Omaha
Robbery, and an Investigation
Was Made.

The following is from today's issue of the St. Joseph Gazette in regard to a Skidmore woman, Mary E. Parrish, being arrested in that city:

Joseph Williams, 26 years old, alias Lloyd Carter, arrested here Monday night, is said to have confessed to Omaha detectives yesterday morning that he is one of the three men who robbed a resort in Omaha Friday night, killed one man, and seriously injured another. Williams is said to have told all about the shooting and also is said to have told the officers where to find his two accomplices. It was decided after questioning Williams that Mary E. Parrish, 38 years old, Skidmore, Mo., who was arrested with him, was not concerned in the murder and robbery.

Immediately after a private talk with Williams, Detectives Fleming and Murphy of Omaha left for Kansas City, expecting to find one of the missing men there. Shortly before noon the two officers telephoned the police here to take Williams to Kansas City. He was taken there at noon by Detective Duncan.

If Detectives Fleming and Murphy learned from Williams where the $8,000 worth of jewels and money is hidden, they said nothing about it. The woman arrested with Williams is still in custody.

Williams worked in St. Joseph for several months at one time. He was employed at state hospital No. 2 for four months and is fairly well known here.

Williams' story of the crime in Omaha, as he is said to have told it, is that the shooting was done by the smallest man of the three. According to the story, Williams was not in the room where the shooting occurred, but was in an adjoining room covering several women and men with a revolver, while the third did the work of collecting the money and jewels.

"HOME OF SAVINGS"

MARYVILLE — MISSOURI

A WARNING TO MOTHERS

White Slave Syndicate Has Name of Every High School in the Country. The Rev. S. E. Betts of the International Anti-White Slavery Association, spoke to the clubwomen on the Kansas side in the auditorium of the Carnegie Library building a few days ago. He characterized newspaper editors as the best friends in the fight for better moral conditions and prophesied that before ten years passed there would not be a licensed saloon in the United States.

"We will win the white slave fight because the government is with us," Mr. Betts said. "The business men are behind it, the secular press is with us and the churches are working for us. 'Few persons realize the enormous power of the white slave syndicate. It started in Constantinople in 1857. Then it moved its headquarters to Paris. From Paris it sent sixteen thousand girls a year into the United States and the average price for each girl was $16.50. We met this with the aid of the government by getting the standards for immigrants raised. Then the syndicate moved to New York. It now also has agencies in Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles."

"And how about the toll this syndicate exacts from our girls? Do you realize that one hundred and eighty girls each day go to the potter's field by suicide because of this white slave organization? We who have investigated it know that we can't blame business conditions for their deaths. There are 1/2 million fallen women in the United States today and only 12 per cent of them ever worked for wages. Only one girl in five occupies her present position from choice. The average price the syndicate collected from these girls was $65."

"We are out to organize every church against this evil. Next October here in Kansas City the International Anti-White Slavery Association will meet and give to the world more startling information than was ever dreamed of."

"Already we know that the syndicate has the name of every high school girl in the United States between the age of 15 and 18 years. They know her habits and inclinations. And the syndicate is busy. They have a contract to supply 15,000 girls for the Panama Exposition at San Francisco. 'Nearly every day some young girl is reported missing in Kansas City. You mothers should be careful in rearing your daughters. Why, the railroads are more thoughtful of the girls than many mothers. Only recently all trains out of Chicago were placarded warning young girls traveling alone against chance acquaintances. The syndicate has its representatives in every class."

"We are going to ask every state in this Union to pass a law that will make landlords responsible for the conduct of their tenants. That will do more to stamp out the evil than any other one thing. But the fact remains that motherhood has been woefully neglectful in this problem."

DARK DAYS COMING

With the shortening of the hours of daylight the strain upon the eyes becomes great with its consequent effect upon the vision.

Have your eyes examined NOW.

Those just bordering upon the time when they need glasses will do well to attend to it at once, while those already wearing them should see to it that they still fit as they ought to. Good eyesight can be fostered just as you can preserve anything else with proper care.

M. L. Circle Meeting.

The M. L. Circle met with Mrs. F. M. Martin Tuesday afternoon. Devotions were led by the president, Mrs. W. O. Garrett. Roll call was responded to with Products of Missouri. Mrs. Clinton Davis read a fine paper on Mark Twain. In the absence of Miss Orrill Helwig, who was to have given a paper on "Education in Missouri," Mrs. P. M. Martin gave a most interesting delinquent paper on "Education, Religion and Customs in Mexico." The reading of Mrs. A. C. Gann on "Love and Sweetheart," relating to the romances of Mark Twain, Longfellow and Byron, were entertaining and pleasing. Mrs. Honnold acted as critic. Mrs. W. A. Rickenbrode, president of the city federation, talked to the Circle at the close of the program of the contemplated civic work of that organization, which the Circle eagerly and agreeably listened to, as not many of them are able to attend the federation meetings and were glad to learn of its doings. The next meeting of the Circle will be held at the home of Mrs. Clinton Davis. The Circle's new member, Mrs. L. R. Holt, was present for the first time at Tuesday's meeting.

Studied Wagner's Music.

The Tourist department of the Twentieth Century club met Tuesday afternoon at Conservatory hall for its regular monthly meeting with a large attendance of its membership and visitors from other departments. The program was devoted to the study of Wagner's operas, under the leadership of Mr. Landon of the Conservatory. The first part was a splendid description of the Bayreuth Festival by Miss Jessie Parcher. The main feature of the afternoon was the talk, or, better, lecture, by Mr. Landon on the Nibelungen Ring, by Wagner, a group of grand opera in which the story of the compositions is connected. He had witnessed the production of the four operas that comprise the ring, which are the culmination of Wagner's genus, many times in Leipzig, and was able to paint the story of each graphically. He took each opera in the order given in the ring: Das Rheingold, Die Walkure, Siegfried and Die Gotterdammerung, and while explaining them separately, showed how they together formed the one great legend of the ring. The most interesting part of the talk was the explanation of the lute-motive which Wagner developed so wonderfully, making the orchestra to speak an intelligible language. The lute-motive is a musical figure to which a definite meaning is attached, and must be characteristic of a personality or figure it is intended to represent. Mr. Landon imitated the different motives on the piano. All who heard his explanation and illustrations had a broader conception of the Wagnerian operas, and if chances come to witness any of the Ring, they will be enjoyed an hundred fold more. Mr. Landon's talk was clear and lucid to everyone present. The ladies were invited to remain awhile, and the ladies of the Conservatory faculty, Miss Marie Jones, Miss Alice Porter and Miss Eleanor Smith, served a delicious luncheon while Mr. Landon gave several Wagner compositions on the piano player. Mr. Landon's generosity was much appreciated by the women, also the fact that he dismissed all classes for the afternoon study with the Tourists, giving, as he always does, the best of which he is capable for the pleasure and profit of all.

Kansas City Motor Show.

Never before in the seven years of Motor shows in Kansas City has all of the space in Convention hall been so rapidly taken up as it has this year. Scarcely had the announcement been made that the Show would be held, when requests began coming in, until now Secretary Peake is wishing that Convention Hall could be enlarged to twice its present size.

The scheme of decoration has not been definitely decided upon, but Mr. Peake says that whatever scheme is adopted it will be one entirely different and more expensive in design than ever before.

"We greatly appreciate the greatly increased attendance which we received last year from out of Kansas City," said Mr. Peake in a recent interview. "We naturally expect the city attendance to increase each year, but we were greatly surprised in our last year's show and to note the decided increase in attendance from outside of Kansas City, as more than 1,500 motor car dealers from ten different states attended last year's show, and from early morning until late at night there was a constant influx of visitors from the bordering territory, and the management will give the visitors this year better decorations, more music and many added exhibits," Mr. Peake further stated.

Convention Hall will be so arranged that 110 different exhibits will beshown which means about 400 motor cars. Visitors can see a grand array of light "six's" and a beautiful line of enclosed cars, and will have ample opportunity to inspect every make of self-starter. They will be able to see exactly the same cars which they would see in New York or Chicago, for eastern factories have promised the management that the identical show cars seen in the East will be displayed in Kansas City.

The Cabaret performances will be given daily for the entertainment of visitors, and it will be the most expensive Cabaret that can be obtained in the West.

This is going to be Gala Week for motor car enthusiasts, if money and work can make it so.

W. W. JONES & CO.

Speaks Highly of This Paper.

Granger, Mo., Jan. 9, 1914.—Editors Democrat-Forum, Dear Sirs: The Dyasht Bros., of Barnard, have kindly sent me a copy of your paper and I see at a glance that it is the best daily paper by far that is published in any town of the size of Maryville anywhere within the whole scope of my knowledge. I am the Western editor of the Farmers Home Journal, published in Louisville, Ky. I see that the Democrat-Forum is a better horse paper than some of the horse papers themselves, and it ought to be appreciated as such by all the farmers and breeders in Nodaway and surrounding counties. I want the paper on my table. Please send me the daily regularly every day.

Granger is a good way from Maryville and you may not be able to get the paper here on the day of publication, but it will come in time to be at least as handy as the clock was to old lady Brooks. Some years ago, the old lady who was a widow, bought a clock of a peddler. She couldn't count time on the face of a clock but she said, "Well I can't count time, but Rasmus Jones is over here every few days and he can tell me the time by the clock." Now Rasmus Jones was a widower and I suppose that his convenience in seeing the time at which he should start home had something to do with the purchase of the clock. So let the Democrat-Forum come along daily and I will copy into Farmers Home Journal every bit of your horse news.

FOR STOMACH TROUBLE.

John W. Skillen of Sidney, Ohio, Has Found a Remedy.

Experts declare that the reason stomach disorders are so common in this country is due to hasty and careless habits of eating. Stomach troubles and run-down conditions usually go together.

John W. Skillen of Sidney, Ohio, says: "I had a bad stomach trouble for years, and became so weak that I could hardly walk or do any work. My appetite was poor, and it seemed impossible to get any relief. Since taking 'Vinol' I find a remarkable improvement in my health, my digestion is much stronger, and I have gained in weight. I would not be without Vinol."

Vinol makes weak stomachs strong because it strengthens and tones up the weakened, tired and overtaxed nerves of the digestive organs. Vinol is easily assimilated by the weakest stomachs, and is delicious to the taste. Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. NEW LINDERMAN OPENING.

Host and Hostess of Our Linville Were Present at Big Event in Clarinda Last Week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Clark of the Linville hotel have returned from Clarinda, Ia., where they attended the opening of the New Linderman hotel Saturday and Sunday. Their son, Fred Clark, lately of Savannah, is the manager of the new hotel, and Orloff Clark, who has been day clerk at the Linville hotel in this city, is his assistant.

The New Linderman would be a credit to any city in Iowa, is the verdict of all who were present at the opening. The old hotel was purchased by a company of thirty business men of Clarinda about six months ago and thoroughly remodeled, and an addition twice the size of the old building built on.

The building now comprises sixty-five rooms, twenty-six of them accessible to bath, hot and cold water service in all other rooms, and a city telephone in each room. Each room is a good, generous size, and the woodwork throughout is in dull flintish oak. The walls are frescoed throughout and the furnishings of each room harmonizes with the colorings in the wall decorations. The heating and light system is said to be the best that can be obtained.

The hotel lobby, dining room and parlor are the most attractive places in the building. The ceiling of the lobby is beamed and the floor of handsome tiling. Between the office and dining room is a ladies' waiting room, nicely furnished.

The dining room is especially handsome and has been designed for big banquet affairs. Guests to the number of 250 may be easily seated. The dining room may be partitioned off with handsome oak panels and made into private dining rooms if so desired. Mr. Clark has a dining room partitioned off for his family that is splendidly furnished, and he also has a beautiful suite of rooms for them.

The new hotel was remodelled and built at a cost of $65,000, and Mr. Clark and his son have furnished it at a cost of $12,000.

Clarinda was proud enough of her new hotel to furnish 150 guests at $1 a plate for the first dinner, and nearly that many for supper the opening day. An orchestra gave delightful music and carnations were given all callers. The menu cards were in white and gold, to correspond with the elegant new table service.

Bertram T. Clark, proprietor of the New Leeper hotel at Chillicothe, which was auspiciously opened two years ago, was present to assist his brother, and he had to own that the Clarinda hotel was more attractive than the fine new hotel of which he is manager.

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Bilious, Stomach Sour, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleaning" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup company." Don't be fooled!—Advertisement.

CONGRESSMAN WOULD SHOOT ATTORNEY

Johnson of Kentucky Has Fist Fight With Lawyer.

Washington, Jan. 21.—A meeting of the house committee on the District of Columbia was broken up by a fist fight between Representative Johnson of Kentucky and John R. Shields, a Washington attorney. After the two men had clashed and several blows were struck, Representative Johnson broke away, shouting: "Get me my pistol, I'll kill him."

Mr. Shields was knocked down before clerks and spectators could quiet the combatants. Clerks held the Kentuckian, but he broke away and dashed off for his private room, shouting for his revolver.

A dozen persons were present when Johnson ran away, but the office soon was emptied. When Johnson returned only clerks remained. The Kentuckian berated them for their interference and the incident closed.

The incident followed a hearing on a bill to increase the salaries of policemen, whom Shields represented.

Representative Johnson declared "he heard that Mr. Shields had collected a large lobbyist fee," and that to vote the proposed increase might be "voting somebody a $4,000 or $5,000 lobbyist fee."

Shields demanded an opportunity to "reply to false statements," and at that Johnson struck the lawyer.

LIVE STOCK EXPERTS DIFFER

Jastro Says Free Trade Will Not Affect Industry.

Denver, Jan. 21.—The failure of the removal of the tariff to reduce the price of meats to the consumer was dwelt upon at the seventh annual convention of the American National Live Stock association. Delegates from all stock growing states attended.

The annual address of H. A. Jastro, president of the association, was an exhaustive review of the live stock industry in the United States and other countries. Mr. Jastro expressed the belief that the removal of the tariff on live stock and meat would not injure appreciably the live stock industry and that prices will not long remain below the present level.

Exaggeration of meat importations since the removal of the tariff was pointed out by J. E. Poole of Chicago, who declared that these had not affected the market as much as the precipitate unloading of live stock by American growers.

Four Children Lost in Woods.

Roseburg, Ore., Jan. 21.—A score of farmers have searched the woods east of Roseburg since Sunday for the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Adams. The eldest, a girl of eighteen years, and three boys from eight to fourteen years left the ranch home of their parents, eleven miles east of Roseburg, to play in a clearing about two miles distant. They did not return.

Canada Asked to Protect Birds.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 21.—The Canadian conservation committee at its annual meeting was asked to aid the American Game Protective association in obtaining an international treaty to give migratory birds in Canada, the same protection afforded in the United States by the law passed at the last session of congress.

Haitian Troops Defeated by Rebels.

Cape Haitien, Jan. 21.—The Haitian government troops were overwhelmingly defeated by the rebels and fled in disorder, after a terrific battle, two miles from this city. The minister of war took refuge on board the steamer Quebec.

John W. Crew Granted Divorce.

St. Louis, Jan. 21.—A divorce from Mrs. Goldie Drew, known on the stage as Grace Drew, was granted to John W. Drew of St. Louis at St. Clayton.

"The Deep Purple."

With "The Deep Purple" that highly successful drama which comes to the Empire tonight, a new partnership of dramatic authors was born. Armstrong had long been a successful playwright, as "Alias Jimmy Valentine," "Salome Jane" and "The Heir to Hoorah" will bear witness. Mizner had had only one play produced, and that had a short life, but he brought to the partnership a knowledge of men and conditions that he had attained during which he had been at various times a hotel keeper, a lecturer with a traveling medicine show, a gold-digger in the Klondike, a soldier, a prize-fight manager, a short story writer, and the husband of a millionaire with a mansion on Fifth Avenue. Certainly his has been a checkered career. Judging from the great success of "The Deep Purple" the collaboration of this unique celebrity and the experienced playwright seems a happy one.

THE MARKETING OF EGGS.

What Mr. Kempster Has to Say in Regard to Making It Profitable.

H. L. Kempster, head of the poultry department at the University of Missouri, writes as follows regarding the marketing of eggs:

It often happens that eggs travel many miles to go through several hands from the time they leave the producer before they reach the consumer. Eggs which are sold at the country store are usually shipped to the nearest egg depot, then sent to the city commission house, which disposes of them to the jobber, who sells to the retailer and he to the consumer.

In most cases the farmer does not handle a sufficient quantity to warrant his catering to a private trade, although there is a great demand for fresh eggs at soda fountains, hotels, restaurants, retailers, etc. Where private trade can be had with little cost of delivery, the producer usually realizes higher prices and the consumer enjoys a higher grade product. Special egg cartons, neatly stenciled cases, uniform grading of the eggs as to size, shape and color all tend toward an attractive product which catches the eye of the consumer, thus calling his attention to the particular producer.

But the great majority of eggs are marketed through the easier channel previously mentioned. They are handled several times and are usually candled once or twice. As a rule, farmers market their eggs once a week; and the groceryman ships as often as he secures enough to make it profitable. A day or two is necessary for the shipment to reach the egg depot; each middleman causes time to elapse, and the age of the egg is indefinite when it reaches the consumer.

Egg candlers eliminate the bad eggs at some time during the journey. The consumer pays only for what he gets. Each middleman deducts his commission, and the farmer or producer receives the value of the eggs less this commission. Many practice selling eggs the age of which is questionable, thinking that the middleman or consumer stands the loss. There could be no more serious mistake. On a trip through commission houses of New York, the writer watched the candling of eggs. About one out of every five was thrown out. Who stands the loss? He knows from experience the quality he may expect. Does the consumer? He pays for what he gets. The man who stands the loss is the producer, and the loss is the lower price he receives because of the average low quality of the eggs.

A better quality would eliminate this loss; and eventually the producer will reap the benefit, not only because of the increase in price which the commission man can afford to pay, but also because of the demand which would be created for his goods on account of their improved quality. It is a fact that eggs from certain localities and states demand a premium of 2 or 3 cents a dozen because of the good reputation their goods have attained.

At the present time there is an enormous loss in the eggs marketed. About 17 per cent, or nearly one-fifth of the eggs marketed, are unfit for food. The elimination of this would mean an addition of $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 to the Missouri farmers in a single year. The loss which occurs in eggs is classified as follows:

Chick development 5 per cent
Dirty eggs 2 per cent
Breakage 2 per cent
Shrunken or held eggs 5 per cent
Rotten eggs 2.5 per cent
Mouldy or bad flavored eggs 5 per cent

The farmer, of course, is responsible for only a portion of this loss, because of delays in transit. Yet he can do much toward the improvement in quality. The following suggestions, if carried out, will help greatly:

(1). Market only eggs of standard size; 24 ounces or more to the dozen.

(2). Avoid dirty eggs by use of clean quarters. Dirt may be removed by a damp cloth, but the keeping quality of the eggs are not as good as of those which are unwashed.

(3). Remove males as soon as the breeding season is over. Fertile eggs do not keep as well, and the 5 per cent loss can be eliminated. It costs more to feed surplus males, and the hens are more productive when no males are present.

(4). Collect eggs from regular nests daily, or even twice daily in hot weather. Stolen nests account for the rotten and moldy eggs.

(5). Store eggs in cool, well ventilated places. Heat assists chick development, and also increases the shrinkage. Eggs are very susceptible to such odors as kerosene, cabbage, rotten fruit, fresh paint, etc.

Feed also influences flavor. Only clean foods should be fed.

(6). Market eggs once or twice weekly. An egg deteriorates in quality with age.

(7). Grade eggs with reference to color. Eggs of uniform color always command a premium of from 1 to 3 cents a dozen.

In many localities where these practices are employed eggs sell for about four cents a dozen above the market price. When the farmer and the shipper realize the benefits to be obtained by careful handling of eggs, an enormous saving will result.

SAYS BUSINESS PEACE IS COMING

President Makes Prediction in Message to Congress.

ASKS FOR CHANGES IN LAWS

Direct Definition of Restraint of Trade Is Advocated—Would Abolish Interlocking Directorates and Make Guilt Personal—Regulation for Railroads.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The Democratic administration's program for dealing with trusts and "big business" was laid before a joint session of congress by President Wilson.

The president presented the case, he said, "as it lies in the thought of the country," reiterating "that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable," and declaring that conscientious business men throughout the nation would not be satisfied until practices now deprecated by public opinion as restraints of trade and commerce were corrected.

"We are now about to write the additional articles of our constitution of peace," said the president, "the peace that is honor—and freedom and prosperity."

Besides suggesting the scope of legislation, the president made a personal appeal for an atmosphere of friendliness and co-operation in congress while handling the problem.

"The antagonism," he said, "between business and government is over. We are now about to give expression to the best judgment of America, to what we know to be the business conscience and honor of the land. The government and business men are ready to meet each other half way in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law."

Applause Is Frequent.

As the president read his message of "Business Peace and Industrial Freedom," as the administration supporters called it, he frequently was interrupted with long applause and, at times, demonstrations approaching cheering. His declaration against interlocking directorates was received without demonstration, but when he recommended the proposal to authorize the interstate commerce commission to regulate the financial operations of the railroads, a burst of applause halted the reading and the president had to wait for it to subside. His declarations that the laws should "tear nothing up by the roots" and that "no sweeping or novel change is necessary" were received with attentive silence. Republican Leader Mann led the applause that greeted the declaration that the "business of production must be separated from the business of transportation."

The declaration for an interstate trade commission was received in silence, and applause greeted the statement that "penalties and punishment should fall not on business itself, but on the individuals who use the instrumentalities of business to do these things which public policy and sound business practice condemn."

Points in His Plan.

The chief points which he singled out as a basis for legislation were:

1. Effectual prohibition of the interlocking of directorates of great corporations—banks, railroads, industrial, commercial and public service bodies.

2. A law to confer upon the interstate commerce commission the power to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development and improved transportation facilities. The president made it clear that "the prosperity of the railroads and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected" in this regard.

3. Definition of "the many hurtful restraints of trade" by explicit legislation supplementary to the Sherman act.

4. The creation of a commission to aid the courts and to act as a clearing house of information in helping business to conform with the law.

5. Provision of penalties and punishment to fall on individuals responsible for unlawful business practice.

6. Prohibition of holding companies and a suggestion that the voting power of individuals holding shares in numerous corporations be restricted.

7. Giving to private individuals the right to found suits for redress on facts and judgments proven in government suits and providing that statute of limitations should run only from the date of conclusion of the government's action.

KILLS WIFE TO PUT HER OUT OF MISERY

Veteran Says She Begged Him to "End it All for Me."

Philadelphia, Jan. 21.—William Eberwein, aged eighty, stood in the criminal court here and told a simple, but dramatic, story of how his wife, fifteen years younger, had pleaded with him to kill her, and how he committed the deed. After the old man had completed the story, Judge Walling surveyed the bent form of the prisoner, fixed the crime at murder in the second degree and imposed the minimum penalty, which, in this case, was practically a life sentence. It was solitary confinement in the penitentiary for not less than seven nor for more than fourteen years.

Holding on to the prisoner's dock with trembling hands, Eberwein, who is a veteran of the civil war, told the court that his wife was an invalid, and that one day last October he came into their home and found her lying at the bottom of a stairway, down which she had fallen. He offered to have her sent to a hospital, but she wouldn't go. "You do it, William," Eberwein alleged she said.

"Do what?" I said, the prisoner continued.

"End it all for me. It's no sin when I'm suffering so."

"I had a beard in my hand that I brought in out of the yard. I looked at her and guessed it wouldn't be a sin."

"Go on, William," she said, "Go on." "Then I tapped her on the head with the board and I tapped her again. She didn't moan much, and once when I stopped she kind of whispered: 'Go on, it won't be long.' So I kept on tapping and she got quiet."

Eberwein stopped speaking, but no one urged him on. Then he began again and told of his arrest. "If I get out of this, I want to go to the sailor's home," he said.

KENYON FOR ALASKA RAIL BILL

Glad Congress Not Afraid to Talk Government Ownership.

PEOPLE DISCUSSING PROBLEM

Iowa Senator Asks If It Is Consolation to New Haven Stockholders to Know of Company's Contribution to G. O. P. Fund.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Senator Kenyon of Iowa, speaking in support of the Alaska railway bill, held up the fate of the New York, New Haven and Hartford stockholders as an argument for government ownership of railroads.

"Is it any consolation to the widows and orphans holding New York, New Haven and Hartford stock, who are told that the dividend has been passed, to know that $50,000 of that company's funds went as a donation to the Republican national campaign fund?" he asked.

A report of Commissioner Prouty of the interstate commerce commission on the New Haven and Hartford manipulations, he declared, showed that $324,000,000 that did not represent anything had been "loaded upon the backs of the people." These things, he said, had made the people of the country willing to discuss government ownership.

"I believe," the senator added, "that the profits of such deals are to be found in the bank accounts of the same people who have sought to plunder Alaska. Bank robbers are more to be respected than these railway plunderers, for it takes courage to rob a bank."

Senator Kenyon was the fourth Republican member of the senate to support the ALASKA RAILWAY BILL. He said he did so gladly because he believed it "a great constructive measure."

"I am glad that congress is not afraid to discuss this problem of government ownership," he said. "The people are ready to discuss it; more ready than they were some years ago when a distinguished citizen proposed it, only to be hooted."

The girl pulled out one of her pins and broke it off in the first jab in to the man's body. She then seized another and plunged it into the heart of Sweeney.
